Gov't seeking solutions to Aqaba's development issues — Razzaz

The government is seeking solutions to Aqaba's development issues, Prime Minister Omar Razzaz said on Tuesday, noting that the southern governorate is "making great strides" in economic, tourism and investment fields. During a meeting with Aqaba Special Economic Zone Authority (ASEZA) Chief Commissioner Nayef Bakhit, the governorate's MPs and a number of other officials, Razzaz noted that Aqaba's education and healthcare sectors require increased support from the relevant ministries and public institutions, the Jordan News Agency, Petra, reported.

Japan, UNOPS continue support to Jordan health sector

Japan's Ambassador to Jordan Hidenao Yanagi and Director of UNOPS Hub in Amman Usman Akram on Tuesday visited the King Hussein Medical Centre and met with Director of the Royal Medical Services (RMS) Maj. Gen. Shawkat Tamimi. The visit comes within the framework of the latest UNOPS project, funded by Japan and aimed at supporting the RMS of the Jordanian Armed Forces-Arab Army (JAF), a joint statement said. The King Hussein Medical Centre is a beneficiary of the "strong partnership in Jordan between UNOPS and the government of Japan", the statement said. With its extensive health services network through hospitals, medical centres and mobile field clinics, the RMS is currently serving 38 per cent of the Jordanian population, including both military and civilian, the statement said.

retail'JD150m spent online in 2018'

Jordanians spent more than JD150 million shopping online in 2018, according to the Jordan Customs Department (JCD). Director of customs clearance at Queen Alia International Airport, Mefleh Abueleim, said that tax and duty exemptions on items bought online reached JD100 million last year, thus affecting revenues and imports, the Jordan News Agency, Petra, reported. According to Abueleim, online shopping has become an integral component of the country's commercial activity. Medications have topped the online purchases list with 15 per cent, followed by clothes with 10 per cent, while other categories included electric appliances, accessories, watches, perfume, cosmetics and nutrition supplements, he said.
